

Educate after school-underprivilege children-India

About Our Educate after school.

Established in 2001, CHHASE currently provides after school services for over 1000 children in our education centers in most backward villages/Hamlets. CHHASE offers academic and recreational programs for children before and after school. CHHASE provide nutrition in the break time, uring long study hours. In addition, CHHASE offers special programs on no-school days as well as programs for the summer.

Providing our programs in a safe and engaging environment is CHHASE's highest priority. We work in partnership with each community, school, and family to design the program that meets the specific needs. We draw upon the most effective academic enrichment, physical fitness, nutritional and life skill programs to challenge children and make learning fun. We provide a healthy snack. And, we employ an experienced leadership team of former school district personnel to supervise each program.

CHHASE is striving for funds each year, to provide services to thousands of children. This program allows the maximum number of children to participate in our programs.
